Good afternoon,

Following the half term break, your child will be sitting both a Low Stakes Assessment and an End of Year Assessment.

After discussions with both parents and students, we understand that many would appreciate additional support with revision, alongside using Sparx. In response, the department has created a structured revision resource to help students prepare effectively at home.

These resources include:

- Carefully selected revision topics based on key areas covered this year
- Step-by-step worked examples to support understanding and independent study
- Practice questions to reinforce learning

Students have already been given these materials during lessons this week, which included fully modelled versions of each type of question. In addition, full worked solutions will be made available on Teams to support further revision and allow students to check their understanding.

The content has been designed to cover all the topics included in the revision list and to provide a clear guide for focused, independent revision.

We strongly encourage students to make regular use of these materials over the coming weeks to build confidence and consolidate their knowledge.

We hope you find this resource helpful in supporting your child's revision at home. Wishing you an enjoyable and restful half term.

Kind regards

Miss Broadbent
